About our managed services.

Adopting new technology is a fantastic way to further your business goals, but it can sometimes leave you with more plates to spin and less time to look after your customers.

Our IT managed services ensure you stay on top of every aspect of application experience – from lines of code and host infrastructure, through integrations and security, to the business context and insights that validate the outcomes you seek.

With our qualified experts, we'll ensure you can meet the demands of a changing digital world and the additional burden it places on IT and business operations teams.

Best of all, everything you need to lighten the load, reduce operating costs and scale your digital transformation plans is available from one partner – simply choose from our two service approaches:

Your tech, our skills

Put simply, we monitor your application delivery chain for you. Our experienced team will handle the installation, configuration, deployment, and ongoing management of monitoring tools – such as Cisco AppDynamics and Zscaler – and will optimise them to meet the goals of your business.

Our tech and skills

If you're seeking the reassurance of an all-inclusive managed service, we'll collaborate on the best technology stack and then include licensing, hosting, cloud services or anything else you need, on top of our expertise.

Use cases.

Ongoing application optimisation.

Our round-the-clock oversight of your applications and their performance ensures they remain optimally operational, as well as functioning with the aim of meeting your specific business goals.

Cloud migration.

Let our team take on the heavy lifting as you move your apps to the cloud. Our managed services take care of everything – from pre-migration cloud readiness, to seamless transition of apps, to post migration monitoring and optimisation that ensures the move delivers on your goals.

Business insights.

Want to know how key business workflows are performing? Our managed services can interrogate the application delivery chains behind inventory management, product logistics, sales orders or any other metric important to your business. Deep observability into the performance of those chains helps connect business outcomes with IT operations.
